AN EPISODE OF THE IRONSIDES

Illustrated by

Maurice Greiffenhagen

THIS is a powerful "Episode of the Ironsides," opening with an early New England scene, and transporting the reader thence to old England through the troublous times of the Royalist and Commonwealth struggles of the XVIIth Century. The love story is of the freshest; the mystery of the plot is tantalizing up to the last page.

A Page of Weighty Appreciation of Miss McChesney's New Novel

The Chicago Evening Post:

"From bloody recontres with painted savages in the wilds of New England to the struggles of royalists and puritans; from mere fighting for existence to the fiercer battling for a cause; from doubt to faith; from bitter hatred to enthralling love—these are some of the adroit transitions conceived in her really excellent romance."

The New York Tribune:

"Rapidly sketching adventures in the field, in the camp, and in captivity,—all well marked by the atmosphere of mingled austerity and reckless gallantry, which we associate with the conflicts of Roundhead and Cavalier—she is skillful and inspiriting."

The Philadelphia Public Ledger:

"It seems not too high praise to say of this remarkable story that it is in all respects one of the very best of the many romances that have found their setting in the period of the great English rebellion. Will stir the blood of the most hardened novel reader."

The Boston Journal

"She has accomplished her work excellently and has made Cromwell and Ireton and Fairfax living figures."

THE PERSIAN PROBLEM

An Examination of the Rival Positions of Russia and Great Britain in Persia, with Some Account of The Persian Gulf and the Bagdad Railway.

By H. J. WHIGHAM. With maps and illustrations. $3.50 net.

This thoroughly able and very readable presentation of the problem was suggested to Mr. Whigham by Lord Curzon, whose book on Persia, the standard work to date, is now becoming obsolete. The author has had a wide experience as war correspondent in Cuba, the Philippines, South Africa and China, which has, with his other equipments, specially fitted him for a broad outlook upon political and international affairs.

THE ROMAN ROAD

Including Two Novelettes and One Short Story.

CONTENTS: THE ROMAN ROAD, THE BALANCE, THOUGHTY $1.50

A brilliant novel by ALICE DUER MILLER

THE MODERN OBSTACLE

Suppose there is not money enough, according to present day standards, to make a certain love match possible, but the man is certain to die, any way, within a year. Why shouldn't the lovers have this brief interval of married happiness? Afterward the young widow may do what her station in life demands. The story runs the gamut from lightest comedy to truly tragic situations. There is an epigram or a brilliant generalization in every paragraph. $1.50

NOTES IN SEASON.

GODFREY A. S. WIENERS, at the Sign of the Lark, New York, has just published an interesting love story entitled "Angelo, the Musician," by Harriet Bartnett.

THE AMERICAN NEWS COMPANY announce a limited paper edition of "Through the Forbidden Gates, and Other Stories," a collection of twenty prize stories by favorite authors. Among them are the title story by Carroll Carrington; "A Celestial Crime," by C. S. Pratt, which won a $1000 prize; and "The White Brick," by F. E. Chase, a $500 prize story.

D. APPLETON & CO. have just brought out Albert Lavignac's work on "Musical Education," translated from the French by Esther Singleton; a work on "Trust Finance," a study of the genesis, organization and management of industrial combinations, by Dr. Edward Sherwood of the Wharton School of Finance and Economy in the University of Pennsylvania; also "Sacrilege Farm," by Mabel Hart, a new novel in Appleton's Town and Country Library.

HARPER & BROTHERS will publish on May 19 "The Love of Monsieur," a new book by George Gibbs, author of "In Search of Mademoiselle." The new story is described as being purely a romance, placed in the seventeenth century, during the reigns of Louis XIV. in France and Charles II. in England. On the same day they will bring out Mr. Howells's new book, "Questionable Shapes," which will contain the following stories: "The Apparition," "The Angel of the Lord," and "Though One Rose from the Dead." The episodes in the book deal chiefly with the psychological experiences of the people the author writes about. The illustrations are by W. T. Smedley and Lucius Hitchcock.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY will publish at once a volume entitled "The Bible in Browning," in which the author, Miss Minnie Gresham Machen, discusses at length Browning's many-sided indebtedness to the Bible. The King James version exerted much influence on his vocabulary and his style, while the Bible itself governed largely his philosophical and religious views. The second part of the volume consists in a thorough study of "The Ring and the Book," with relation to Browning's use of the Bible. Sometime during the spring they will publish in the English Men of Letters Series a biography of Browning by G. K. Chesterton, author of "The Defendant." In the autumn they will publish in this same series a biography of Lowell by Henry Van Dyke, one of Emerson by George E. Woodberry, and one of Benjamin Franklin by Owen Wister.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS publish to-day a timely work on "The Persian Problem," an examination of the rival positions of Russia and Great Britain in Persia, with some account of the Persian Gulf and the Bagdad Railway, the writing of which was suggested to the author, H. J. Whigham, by Lord Curzon, whose own book on Persia, the standard work to date, is now becoming obsolete. The work is equipped with maps and illustrations. They have also just ready "The Roman Road," two novelettes and one short story, by "Zack;" also, a brilliant novel by Alice Duer Miller, entitled "The Obstacle." The publication of Mrs. Waddington's "Letters of a Diplomatist's Wife" has been postponed to May 16, pending simultaneous publication of a larger English edition by Smith, Elder & Co. Thomas Nelson's Page's new story, "Gordon Keith," will be brought out on May 29.

Thoughts and facts about nature for each day in the year. A page is given to each day, the remarks about the birds and flowers being interspersed with many old poems and some new ones.

Missouri. Laws relating to private corporations other than railroad and insurance; cont. instructions for incorporation, conduct of corporate business, together with forms, by M. F. Watts; rev. and annot. by W. W. Herron. St. Louis, F. H. Thomas Law Book, 1903. c. 8+525 p. O. shp., $4.

Monroe, Mrs. Harriet Earhart. Washington, its sights and insights. N. Y., Funk & Wagnalls Co., 1903. [Ap.] c. 7+183 p. il. por. D. cl., $1 net.

A book about the national capital written by a public lecturer. A pleasant combination of facts and events, and amusing anecdotes. The author not only describes the architecture of the government buildings, but vividly depicts the work that is carried on within by the system of administration in each department. The new White House is also described and illustrated, and the history given of every monument and institution.

Moore, G: A mummer's wife. N. Y., Brentano's, 1903. 3+467 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

First published in England in 1884. One of Moore's strongest novels, that has never before been offered here in a good edition. Sometimes published in this country under the title of "An actor's wife."

Müller, Wilhelm. Diary and letters of Wilhelm Müller, [in German;] with explanatory notes and a biographical index; ed. by Philip Schuyler Allen and Ja. Taft Hatfield. Chic., University of Chicago Press, 1903. c. 5+199 p. por. D. cl., *$1.25 net.

With tables of N. Y. supp. cases that have been passed upon by the court of appeals. A table of statutes construed is given in the index.

Nixdorff, H: Morris. White Rock, and other stories. N. Y., Abbey Press, [1903.] c. 3+113 p. D. cl., 75 c.

Ohio criminal law and practice: a practical treatise with directions and forms; by J. F. Laning. 2d ed. Norwalk, Laning Print. Co., 1903. c. 20+1088 p. O. shp., $6.50.

O'Mahony, T. J., D.D. Wreaths of song: a lyrical thought sequence. N. Y., Abbey Press, [1902.] c. 7+162 p. D. cl., $1.

Palmer, Mrs. Alice Freeman. Service in memory of Alice Freeman Palmer held by her friends and associates in Appleton Chapel, Harvard University, January 31, 1903. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1903. 4-88+3 p. por. nar. O. bds., 75 c. net.

In this memorial volume, after a prefatory note by Professor G. H. Palmer, an exact report is given of the service held at Harvard University on January 31 for the late Alice Freeman Palmer. It was a service not of regret but of thanksgiving, and was rendered notable by the addresses of President Angell of Michigan, President Hazard of Wellesley, President Tucker of Dartmouth, and President Eliot of Harvard.

Parkhurst, Howard Elmore. Trees, shrubs and vines of the United States; their characteristic landscape features fully described for identification by the non-botanical reader; with an account of the principal foreign hardy trees, shrubs and vines cultivated in our country and found in Central Park, New York City. N. Y., Scribner, 1903. [Ap.] c. 5+451 p. il. D. cl., $1.50 net.

"Designed for the uninstructed nature-lover, who wishes help in learning the multitudinous forms of landscape growth all around him without the labor of preliminary training in botanical science." The catalogue presented of the trees, etc., of Central Park is based upon accurate official lists recently completed and not yet published, by the Park Department, the correctness of which has been largely verified by the writer's own observations during the past two years.

Parson, Kirk. On the mountain division. N. Y., Eaton & Mains, [1903.] c. 255 p. il. D. cl., $1.

A story founded on facts of life among the Pennsylvania railroad men.

Pope, Alex. Complete poetical works of Alexander Pope. Cambridge ed. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1903. c. 20+672 p. O. cl., $2; hf. cf., $3.50; tree cf. or levant, $6.

The editorial features of this edition of Pope are especially noteworthy. For the first time the poems are arranged in chronological order, and the translations from Homer are included, the parts of the translation of the Odyssey not made by Pope having been omitted. The editor has had valuable experience as a teacher of literature as well as a writer, and his notes, though sparing, will be of value to students.

Powers, Ella Marie, and Balliet, T: M. The Morse readers; practical graded text. 5th book. N. Y., Morse Co., 1903. c. 384 p. pors. 12°, (Morse readers, no. 5.) cl., 66 c.

Roberts, Harry. The tramp's hand-book; il. by W: Pascoe. N. Y., J: Lane, 1903. 6+175 p. S. (The country handbooks, no. 1.) cl., $1 net.

The first volume of a series to be known as "The country handbooks." Intended for all who love outdoor life. Chapters on: A defence of vagabondage; The art of walking; The ass as comrade; Caravans and carts; The tramp's furniture; Tents; Concerning food; The roadside fire; Roadside cookery; Wild food; Mushrooms and truffles, etc. List of books (2 p.) Short vocabulary of Romany and travellers' cant. Index.

Rose, W:, and Carless, Alb. A manual of surgery. 5th ed. N. Y., W: Wood & Co., [1903.] 1227 p. 8°, cl., $5; leath., $5.75.

Roseboro', Viola. The joyous heart. N. Y., McClure, Phillips & Co., 1903. [Ap.] c. 2+327 p. D. bds., †$1.50.

A study of a woman, who is pagan almost, yet warmly human and lovable. The story of her short life is the story of a joy in living that no sorrow could subdue, that remained triumphant to the end. The scene of the novel is in the south, during the war and after.

Sangster, Mrs. Margaret Elizabeth Munson. The joyous life. N. Y., Amer. Tract Soc., [1903.] c. 2-218 p. por. D. cl., $1.

Each of the twelve chapters is a simple and friendly talk on some theme of homely interest, the author's aim being to suggest something helpful in each as to life and conduct.

Scott, Erastus H. Teacher's manual for first year Latin, for use with Bellum Helveticum. Chic., Scott, Foresman & Co., 1903. c. 56 p. 12°. pap., 25 c.

Slosson, Mrs. Annie Eliot Trumbull. Life's common way. N. Y., A. S. Barnes & Co., 1903. [Ap.] c. 4+420 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

A story of the modern woman as she is developed in American, or more especially, New England society. It deals with the varying effects upon character of our daily American life, the fortunes of a king of finance and the complex currents beneath the surface of what appears to be a purely conventional progress along "life's common way."

Sonnichsen, Albert. Deep sea vagabonds; by Albert Sonnichsen, able seaman. N. Y., McClure, Phillips & Co., 1903. [Ap.] c. 4+336 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

The adventures of two young men who shipped before the mast, on the Pacific Coast. By the author of "Ten months a captive among the Filipinos." The story begins in 1896, and reads like veritable adventures.

Springer, Mary Eliz. Elizabeth Schuyler: a story of old New York. N. Y., Mary E. Springer, [1903.] c. 2-256 p. D. cl., $1.50.

Spyri, Mrs. Johanna. Dorris and her mountain home: [a story;] from the German by Mary E. Ireland. Richmond, Va., Presbyterian Com. of Publication, [1903.] c. 1902. 6-166 p. por. D. cl., *75 c. net.

Stevenson, Rob. L: Memories and portraits. Bost., Herbert B. Turner & Co., 1903. 73+271 p. por. S. cl., $1.25.

Sixteen papers on: The foreigner at home; Some college memories; Old Mortality; A college magazine; An old Scotch garden; Pastoral; Memories of an islet; Thomas Stevenson; Talk and talkers; The character of dogs; A gossip on a novel of Dumas's; The philosophy of umbrellas, etc.

Stimson, J: Ward. The gate beautiful: being principles and methods in vital art education. [Paper ed.] Trenton, N. J., Albert Brandt, 1903. [Ap18.] 420 p. il. charts, 4°, pap., $3.50 net.

Stockton, Frank R: Novels and stories. Shenandoah ed. In 20 v. v. 19-20. N. Y., Scribner, 1903. c. 2 v., 12°, subs., ea., $2; hf. levant, $4.

Contents: v. 19, Afield and afloat; v. 20, Kate Bonnet: the romance of a pirate's daughter.

Templeton, Herminie. Darby O'Gill and the good people. N. Y., McClure, Phillips & Co., 1903. [My.] c. 6+294 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

Sets forth an account of the adventures of a daring Tipperary man named Darby O'Gill among the fairies of Sleive-na-Mon. Quaint and humorous sketches woven about Irish superstitions and folklore.

Thompson, Bradley M. Cases on equity pleading and practice. Chic., Callaghan & Co., 1903. c. 9+331 p. O. buckram *$3 net.

Tomkinson, Laura E., [Mrs. T. L. Tomkinson.] Twenty years' history of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, 1880-1900. Cin., O., Jennings & Pye, for the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, 1903. c. 14+301 p. por. D. cl., $1.25.

Trent, Hilary. Mr. Claghorn's daughter. N. Y., J. S. Ogilvie Pub. Co., 1903. c. 277 p. D. cl., $1.

The story of a woman, trained to be an agnostic but of strong religious instincts, who becomes the wife of a professional theologian who accepts the orthodox confession of faith.

Wagner, C: The better way, [L'ami;] from the French by Mary Louise Hendee. N. Y., McClure, Phillips & Co., 1903. 10+265 p. D. cl., $1 net.

Represents the application of the doctrines of "The simple life," as set forth by Mr. Wagner in his first famous work, to affairs of the spirit, where, through the refinements of philosophers and casuists, the soul has become as much involved in complicated perplexities as our outward life itself. "The better way" is a recall to a simpler, more practical faith.

Walker, Alice Morehouse. Mary Mattoon and her hero of the Revolution, [General Ebenezer Mattoon.] Amherst, Mass., Alice M. Walker, 1902. c. 83 p. por. 16°, pap., 50 c.

Wasson, G: S. Cap'n Simeon's store. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1903. [Ap.] c. 6+287 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

The title, "Cap'n Simeon's store," is taken from the favorite haunt of the ancient sea-captains, who sit around "Cap'n Simeon's" hospitable fire and spin out yarns of life and death on the great deep, and of witchcraft and other strange happenings on shore. "Cap'n Simeon's store" is "down Gloucester way."

Weed, Clarence Moores. The flower beautiful. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1903. [Ap.] c. 10+136 p. nar. O. cl., $2.50 net.

This is probably the first book on the subject of the decorative use of flowers, and with its abundant illustration it awakens a fresh interest in the use and arrangement of flowers for beautifying interiors. The author has treated the subject seriously as a branch of art, and applies the principles of art to govern its practice. He points out the importance of harmony in color and form, not only between the flowers used, but the flowers and their receptacles and surroundings.

Whiting, C: Goodrich. Walks in New England; il. from photographs. N. Y., J: Lane, 1903. [Ap.] c. 5-301 p. D. cl., $1.50 net.

Notes on nature made during walks throughout the year in different parts of New England. Profusely illustrated from photographs made at the points described.

Woodruff, Clinton Rogers, and others. Municipal misrule: a discussion by experts of one of the greatest problems of the day; and Talks on municipal affairs, by Seth Low. Brooklyn, N. Y., Office of The Brooklyn Daily Eagle, [1903.] 38 p. Q. (Brooklyn Eagle lib., v. 18, no. 3, serial no. 75.) pap., 10 c.

Wright, Harold Bell. That printer of Udell's: a story of the middle west; il. by J: Clitheroe Gilbert. Chic., The Book Supply Co., 1903. c. 1902, 1903. 8+468 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The opening scene is laid in the Moonshiner's district of Arkansas. From there the story soon carries the reader into the more familiar localities of the middle west, and later on returns for a time to the life of the mountaineer in the Ozarks. There is a continuous love story throughout.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

MAY 2, 1903.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

AS TO THE POSSIBILITIES OF BOOKSELLING IN THE FUTURE.

WE print elsewhere in this issue a communication from an old friend in New England who seems to regard pessimistically the speculation of the editor of The World's Work that the sales of a book that reaches a circulation of 100,000 copies might be multiplied by two, three and so on, if the trade were able to develop its machinery for distribution. We confess that, for our part, we do not consider this matter so improbable as our correspondent seems to regard it. The speculation of the editor of The World's Work, and our comments on his theories, were based on the lines of progress. Our correspondent certainly does not believe that the booktrade will continue on its crab-like career for all time to come. When the reform, for which our correspondent has battled as intelligently and bravely as any in the trade, is in full swing, why should it be unlikely that the sales of the right kind of books, through properly supported media, shall be greatly increased!

This progress will inevitably be slow—to many impatient ones it will very likely appear discouragingly slow. It has taken a generation and longer to disorganize the booktrade and to demoralize the bookbuying public. It may take a longer time to rebuild the retail trade, and to win back the confidence of the bookbuying public. It is this very lack of confidence bred in bookbuyers throughout these years of disorganization that may account in a large measure for the poor results obtained by our correspondent in the canvass described by him—for who has been more demoralized in the matter of bookbuying than the clergy!

As we pointed out in our comments on the subject, many vexing problems will have to be solved before the book business is rehabilitated, and among these the re-awakening of the bookbuying habit, and the winning back of the confidence of the bookbuying public will not be the least vexing problems.

At this period of the resurgence of the book trade which we believe has set in, it would be preposterous for any one to lay down a rule, or a set of rules, by which individual booksellers may double their incomes. From our point of view, based upon reports of the revival of the booktrade throughout the country, even from the South, where the trade has been perhaps at the lowest possible ebb; from the general expressions of confidence in the reform movement; from the establishing of a new bookstore here and there throughout the country, and other data, we believe we are justified in making the general assertion that the future gives promise of sales compared with which those of the present will be considered commonplace. Whether this will prove a "glittering generality" another generation will be able to decide. For the present we are not alone in holding the position that bookselling in the United States is only in its infancy.

AN inspired local newspaper paragraph also takes issue with the editor of The World's Work for saying that bookstores might be made as plentiful as grocery stores. "Why," says our local contemporary, "one might as well look for a parity of meat markets and art shops." Well, that is pretty nearly the proportion they maintain in Germany, with a smaller population than we have. As for our local contemporary's contention that "dealers in luxuries, as booksellers are, cannot expect to find an endless extension of trade," there are many who think that the time is rapidly approaching, if we are not at its very threshold, when books will be considered among the necessaries of life, not luxuries. With the steadily growing development of this country, with thousands of acres of land still to populate, and millions of people to educate, why should we of to-day not be permitted to limber our imagination and take an optimistic view of the possibilities of bookselling in the future?

It were well that the committee of dealers in old books, that called upon the mayor this week, would take steps at once to frame a paragraph to be added to the junkdealers' ordinance, which we understand is now being revised, protecting the booktrade from such annoying and senseless interference as that which the enforcing of the present ordinance threatened. The trade might, if nothing better offers itself, adopt, as a precedent of weight, the Proviso appended to Chapter 531, of the act relating to junkdealers, dealers in second-hand personal property, and pawnbrokers in the District of Columbia, enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives, March 3, 1891, which reads as follows: "Provided, however, That the provisions of this act shall not apply to dealers in second-hand books, or to the business of dealing in second-hand books."

The decision of the Court of Appeals in the famous "Park" case, in favor of the National Wholesale Druggists' Association against John D. Park & Sons Company, of Cincinnati, is important, and may be considered good news to the booktrade, inasmuch as the appeal of the Macy case is expected to be influenced by this decision. It will be remembered that Justice Leventritt, before whom the motion for preliminary injunction in the case of Macy v. the American Publishers' Association was argued, while he indicated that his own decision would be in favor of granting the injunction, admitted that he felt compelled to respect the decision in the controlling case of Park v. the National Wholesale Druggists' Association, with which he considered the Macy case to be closely parallel.

BIBLE SELLING IN THE LEVANT.

The annual report of the American Bible Society, which has just been published, is replete with facts relating to the political and social conditions in the East, especially in many of the nations now engaging public attention. The agency has experienced the harassing influences which seem inevitable under the political regime in subjection to which its operations must be carried on. It has felt the handicapping influence of that regime in more than one of its departments of work. The perfecting of the long-delayed Armeno-Koordish translation of the New Testament has been the care of the Rev. Mr. Andrus of the American Board's Mission at Mardin. The total issues of the Levant agency for the forty-five years ending December 31, 1902, have been 2,018,023 copies.

The agency's direct work of distribution has been effected, first, by its main depositories, located at Constantinople, Beirut, and Alexandria, the latter being supplemented by branch depositories at Cairo, Asyut, and Luxor; second, by evangelical preachers, teachers, Christian associations, and earnest Christian men, who have felt disposed to do what they could to further such a work; third, by colporters employed for the purpose, who have been directed either by the agency, or by its correspondents, and who have travelled all over the country. The total number of these colporters has been 79. They were employed for an aggregate of 27,082 days, travelled 62,474 miles, and visited 2511 places.

The work of distribution in the Turkish empire has been prosecuted without any very serious official interference. The Turkish regime, however, always allows opportunity to any ignorant or ill-disposed official to make himself obnoxious. Forty-seven colporters have been employed in Turkey and have visited 2511 different towns and villages. The figures of distribution show a marked decrease throughout the whole of the Turkish field. The problem of Bible colportage in Constantinople is getting to concern itself more and more with the city people, whose natural instinct in Constantinople is anti-Biblical.

Seven colporters have been employed in Bulgaria and have visited 402 towns and villages. The distribution in Bulgaria, at its best, is small. Political conditions, to say nothing of the increasing poverty of the people, have discouraged efforts at Bible distribution. There have been three main centres of distribution for that part of Bulgaria south of the Balkans: Sofia, in connection with the Bulgarian Evangelical Society; Samokov, under the direction of the Rev. W. P. Clarke of the American Board; and Philippopolis, under the direction of the Rev. G. D. Marsh, also of the American Board.

In Macedonia the Rev. Dr. House of the American Board has had two colporters traversing the field, in whose support the Bible Society has participated. Dr. House and the colporters have all felt the handicapping and discouraging effect of the political disturbances. They have gone about only with a considerable degree of personal danger.

The intolerant spirit displayed by the Greeks at Athens has had a temporarily distressing effect upon Bible work among the Greeks.

The southern part of the province of Diarbekir has been cared for by the mission station of the American Board at Mardin. The Rev. A. N. Andrus, who has been in charge, writes: "We have been greatly hampered by the Government, which twice seized the books and placed the colporter under arrest. The last lot is only now being restored to him, and that only through persistent efforts by Dr. Norton, the United States Consul at Harpoot, and by our representatives at Constantinople."

"The spiritual awakening in the city of Aintab is reported to have been powerful, resulting in numerous and crowded meetings, and in special movements for Bible study, increasing the demand for Scriptures.

"Many a veteran missionary can remember when there were few Protestant schools and churches in Syria and Lebanon. To-day the traveller in Palestine and Syria meets large numbers who have attended the mission schools, some in small, faraway villages, others in the larger towns and cities. An effort has been made in the most bigoted section of Syria to send a colporter among the people, with most satisfactory results. In the Lebanon station the Rev. William Jessup of Zaleh reports hundreds of Druses using the Bible in the various village schools as a textbook. The bookshop at Zaleh is well patronized by those who congregate there in the evening to hear the Scriptures read and explained by the shopkeeper."

Twenty-three colporters have been employed in Egypt.

HOME SKETCHES OF ESSEX CO., N. Y.

A RECENT inquiry concerning the "Home Sketches of Essex County," published in 1858, brought out the following interesting bibliographical information which we reprint from the Essex County Republican, Keeseville, N. Y., April 17:

We want information concerning a volume known as "Home Sketches of Essex County," published in 1858.

Who knows anything about such a book and who owns a copy?

In reply to the above, will say the volume referred to was written by Rev. Joseph Cook about the time he was a student in Keeseville, N. Y., academy (known then as Flavius Josephus Cook) and published under the name of Flavius J. Cook. The original idea with him was that some one in each town write a historical story of their town beginning with its earliest days. If I remember rightly a Mr. Hiram Buck, of Crown Point, wrote a short history of Crown Point, and was the only one to join Mr. Cook in carrying out the original idea. Mr. Cook carried out his idea in a volume of some 200 pages, paper covers and published in 1858. It was entitled "Home Sketches of Essex County No. 1, Ticonderoga."

What it is—
What it does—
What it enjoys—
What it needs—

It dealt to the minutest detail in its eventful military history and was replete with local history and reminiscence. The style of writing was as a prelude to his masterly writings of later years. The greater part of it was reprinted through his courtesy in the "History of Essex County," published by Mason, Smith & Co., Syracuse, N. Y., some 12 or 14 years ago. The last I knew of the book there were but three copies known to be in existence and these were not accessible. Since then, I have heard Mrs. Cook was to have some copies reprinted from the original manuscript for a few special friends, but do not know whether she did or not. A letter directed to Joseph Cook's widow, Mrs. Joseph Cook, Cliff Seat, Ticonderoga, N. Y., will no doubt bring to you the facts you desire. HATTIE A. HADLEY.

NEW YORK BOOKSELLERS NOT TO BE INCLUDED IN THE JUNKDEALERS' ORDINANCE.

THE committee appointed at the meeting of the dealers in old books held on April 22, at Anderson's, to protest against including booksellers in the junkdealers' ordinance, called at the mayor's office in the morning of April 29 to present their grievance. Mayor Low received the delegation most courteously and considerately and, at the conclusion of the interview, assured the committee that nothing would be done at present in the matter of enforcing the junkdealers' ordinance so far as the booktrade was concerned. He furthermore informed the committee that the city ordinances were now being revised and that he expected that the reference in the junkdealers' ordinance to dealers in "other articles" would be modified so as specifically to exclude the bookseller. Should it be necessary, however, for purposes of police regulations, to make a reference to booksellers, an opportunity would be afforded to the committee to make suggestions how best to protect the interests of their trade.

TROUBLES OF NEWSDEALERS IN NEW YORK.

On Saturday of last week the Deputy Police Commissioner of New York City caused the arrest of several newsdealers and the removal of their stands to the public pound. The Deputy Commissioner maintained that all newsstands that are situated on street corners and beyond the stoop line are there in violation of a local ordinance. The dealers arrested were fined $2.

A delegation of the newsdealers, on April 27, called on Mayor Low for relief. After taking the matter under consideration Mayor Low recommended to the Board of Aldermen the passage of an ordinance legalizing the sale of newspapers and periodicals from street stands.

Alderman Sullivan immediately submitted a resolution legalizing the maintenance of portable news stands on each city block, provided the consent of abutting property owners is obtained, as well as that of the Alderman of the district. Provision is made for a $5 fee. The resolution was referred to the committee on law and legislation.

Pending the passage of this ordinance Commissioner Greene has promised that no further orders on the subject would be issued.

THE NATIONAL WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS' ASSOCIATION NOT A TRUST.

The National Wholesale Druggists' Association has won by a decision of the Court of Appeals at Albany, N. Y., April 28, its fight over the firm of John D. Park & Sons Company, of Cincinnati, Ohio. The Cincinnati firm is so-called "cut-rate druggists," and also manufacturers of proprietary medicines. They brought an action against the Druggists' Association, which is an unincorporated concern composed of 125 manufacturers, jobbers, and wholesalers of drugs from Maine to California, charging that the latter conspired to prevent the sale of certain drugs to the plaintiff company because it refused to enter the combination. The Park Company therefore endeavored to break up the association.

The lower courts held that the association, under its peculiar agreements, was not a combination in restraint of trade, and the Court of Appeals affirmed that decision.

MR. RIPLEY HITCHCOCK VICE-PRESIDENT OF A. S. BARNES & CO.

The announcement that Mr. Ripley Hitchcock has become associated with the well-known publishing house of A. S. Barnes & Company, and has been made vice-president, is of peculiar interest, in view of the high standing and long and uninterruptedly successful career of this house, and in view, also, of Mr. Hitchcock's successful record as an editor. Those who follow the work of publishers and authors are familiar with Mr. Hitchcock's prompt appreciation of new talent as illustrated in his introduction of authors like Gilbert Parker, Stephen Crane, Felix Gras, Emerson Hough, Ellen Thorneycroft Fowler, Stewart Edward White and Edward Noyes Westcott, author of "David Harum," among others, while the numerous important series of books which he has planned have ranged from juvenile sets to series of business books and historical and biographical series. As a suggestive, and always interested, editor, and an author with several books and numerous magazine contributions to his credit, Mr. Hitchcock has shown peculiar qualifications for sympathetic relations with authors. His understanding of the author's side, together with his inventiveness and executive and business ability, and wide and favorable reputation, should all prove valuable aids in fulfilling the increased responsibilities which are offered him.

The house of A. S. Barnes & Company, which was founded in 1838, has enjoyed a career of constant prosperity. Among its well-known historical publications, the standard "History of New York," by Mrs. Martha J. Lamb and Mrs. Burton Harrison, has recently been attracting special attention on account of the anniversary of the organization of the city government. In fiction, books by Zangwill, A. J. Dawson, Edwin Pugh and Annie Eliot Trumbull are among the latest publications, while Goodyear's "History of Art" and the work of Lyman Abbott, William Elliot Griffis, B. G. Northrup, Dr. George F. Lorimer, Dr. George F. Pentecost, Mrs. Archibald Colquhoun, Prof. Burt G. Wilder, H. A. Guerber and many other standard authors indicate the wide range of the house's publications. It is understood that arrangements are in progress for some important extensions of the lists, of which announcements may be made before the autumn.

LADIES' NIGHT AT THE BOOKSELLERS' LEAGUE.

The Ladies' Night of The Booksellers' League will be given at the rooms of the Aldine Association on Wednesday evening, May 13, at 7 P.M. A programme of unusual attractiveness has been prepared, which will include music, addresses by prominent speakers, souvenirs of the occasion for the guests of the fair sex, etc. Those who desire to be present on this occasion must notify W. H. Parker, at E. P. Dutton & Co.'s, 31 West Twenty-third Street, New York, not later than May 9, as all arrangements for extra tickets and seats must be completed by that date.

COMMUNICATIONS.

POSSIBILITIES OF BOOKSELLING IN THE FUTURE.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: Your editorial "Possibilities of Bookselling in the Future" and the article "On the Small Circulation of New Books" by the editor of World's Work in your issue of April 11, should give food for thought to publishers and booksellers alike.

The editor of World's Work says there is no "practical way to make bookstores as numerous as grocery stores;" but at the same time claims that a book which sells to 100,000 persons should have a sale of twice or thrice or six or eight times as many, if publishers and booksellers had machinery to find them. Would not this statement be just as true of any other popular article, such as corsets, or perfumery, or hundreds of other articles which I could mention? Can the editor of the World's Work, or the editor of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY suggest to the bookseller any new method of pushing new books? If so I for one should welcome such advice and would act quickly if there is any chance of doubling or trebling my sales.

I for one fully realize that our present machinery for the distribution of books has steadily grown more expensive and at the same time less effective in making sales than it was twenty-five years ago. Take newspaper advertising. In my own city, an advertisement properly displayed for say six of the new popular books used to cost a few years ago for one insertion in the morning and evening paper eight dollars; to-day the same advertisement costs fourteen dollars. To pay for this advertisement (if the books are the usual $1.50 novels which we have to sell for $1.08 each,) requires the sale of nearly 80 books, the average profit being 18 c. per copy. I use such advertising some, but more to keep my name before the public than anything else, for such an advertisement would not begin to sell one-quarter of the books necessary to give us profit enough to pay for the cost of the advertisement.

Take the book reviews. Our newspaper has a much larger circulation than it had twenty-five years ago, probably four times as large, the reviews of new books are much more carefully written and have a much more attractive setting than ever before; but it is seldom that they sell any books for us, except perhaps at the Christmas season of the year.

During the past year or two we have mailed thousands of circulars of new books, but we find this plan does not begin to pay for the time and expense. Recently we mailed to all the clergy in our State a fine descriptive circular of a recent book, issued at a reasonable price, that is certainly of much interest, or should be of much interest, to the clergy. We do not dare to put in print the actual result of sales from this venture. We simply say our profits did not pay for one-half the cost of the postage stamps used in mailing the circulars.

Now, I am not saying why this is so—I think I could give some explanation; but I would like the editor of the World's Work or the editor of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY to give me some hints how to make our present machinery sell more books, and in giving such advice would ask them to take into consideration the bookseller's profit on his sales, of 20 or 25 %, not the publisher's profit.

A NEW ENGLAND BOOKSELLER.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: "Bartlett's Bookstore" is no more for the present. I have moved my personal belongings to No. 5 East Twelfth Street. I expect to loaf this summer, and may resume business in the fall.

If not asking too much, I wish you would mention the above fact, and much oblige a friend, who has made many a dollar in consequence of being a subscriber to THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY. With many thanks, I remain

Yours very truly,

GEO. C. BARTLETT.

NEW YORK, April 27.

OBITUARY NOTES.

THE REV. GEORGE DANA BOARDMAN, one of the best-known Baptist preachers in the country, died at Atlantic City, N. J., April 28, after a long illness. Dr. Boardman was born August 18, 1838, at Tavoy, Burmah, where his father was stationed as a Baptist missionary. His stepfather was the famous pioneer American missionary, Adoniram Judson. He entered Brown University in 1846, but became disheartened and went West, settling in Missouri, where he read law and engaged in mercantile pursuits for three or four years. Returning to New England he studied medicine in Massachusetts, and then re-entered Brown, from which he was graduated in 1852. Three years after he was graduated from the Newton Theological Institute. His first charge as pastor was at Barnwell Court House, S. C., which he left to go to Rochester, where he remained until 1864, when he was called to the First Baptist Church at Philadelphia, where he remained for thirty years, until in 1894 he was made pastor emeritus. In 1899 he founded a perpetual lectureship in the University of Pennsylvania, called the Boardman Foundation in Christian Ethics. His published works include "The Creative Work," "The Model Prayer," "The Epiphanies of the Risen Lord," "The Divine Man," "The Problem of Jesus," "The Ten Commandments," "Disarmament of Nations," "The Coronation of Love," "The Two Bibles," "The Kingdom," "The Church," "The Golden Rule," and a number of addresses. His most important monograph is "Titles of Wednesday Evening Lectures," 981 lectures, comprising a complete exegesis of the Bible, delivered on Wednesday evenings from 1865 to 1880, a work never before or since accomplished.

PAUL BELLONI DU CHAILLU, the author and explorer, died suddenly in St. Petersburg, April 30. Du Chaillu was born in New Orleans, La., July 30, 1838. At the age of eighteen he went with his father to a French settlement on the west coast of Africa. From there he travelled 8000 miles into a country that up to that time was undiscovered. His discoveries, especially those of the gorillas and Obongo dwarfs, were contradicted by scientists, but were afterwards confirmed. He made several explorations of Africa in 1863-5, discovering many new species of birds and animals, and travelled extensively in Sweden, Norway, Lapland, Finland and other countries. He lived with the lowest and the highest to study every phase of the life of the countries he visited, and looked with a kindly eye on whatever shortcomings he found. This tendency to see the good rather than the bad was a part of Du Chaillu's nature, for wherever he went he had found good things to enjoy and to describe. Among the books he wrote were "Explorations and Adventures in Equatorial Africa," "A Journey to Ashango Land," "Stories of the Gorilla Country," "Wild Life Under the Equator," "My Apingi Kingdom," "The Country of the Dwarfs," "The Land of the Midnight Sun," "The Viking Age," "Ivor, the Viking," "The People of the Great African Forest," "Lost in the Jungle," "The Land of the Long Night," "The World of the Great Forest," "How Animals, Birds, Reptiles and Insects Talk, Work, Think," "King Mombo," and "The World of the Greatest Forest."

Professor Josiah Willard Gibbs, who occupied the chair of mathematical physics at Yale University since 1871, died at New Haven, Conn., April 28. Professor Gibbs was born at New Haven, February 11, 1839, and was graduated from Yale in 1858. He continued his studies at Yale and then went abroad. In 1871 he was appointed to the Yale professorship which he held till his death. Professor Gibbs was the author of a number of papers on mathematical physics, especially on thermo-dynamics.

Edward Henry Vizetelly, the once well-known author and war correspondent, died April 13, at the age of fifty-four in the Whitechapel Infirmary, London. He was the eldest son of the late Henry Vizetelly, the London publisher, and brother of Ernest Alfred Vizetelly, the well-known English translator of Zola. Vizetelly headed the search for Stanley in Africa.

Patrick S. McBride, the veteran bookseller of Youngstown, O., died last week.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

"Graham Hope," author of "The Triumph of Count Ostermann," is the pen name of Miss Jessie Hope, who will be recalled as the author of "The Cardinal and His Conscience." She is of Scotch descent, and is the sister of Adrian Hope, who is well known in England for his philanthropic work.

John Huston Finley, who has just been elected president of the College of the City of New York, is as well known in the literary field as in the educational world. He made the money he needed to put himself through Knox College by setting type, and was president of that college when he was twenty-nine. Since then he has been professor of politics in Princeton University, associate editor of Harper's Weekly and of McClure's, has contributed to the leading magazines, and was, with Richard T. Ely, author of "Taxation in American States and Cities."

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

Marlier & Co., Boston, will publish this month the first number of a French monthly magazine of philosophy, literature and art, to be entitled L'Ame française. It will be edited by Albert Millet and Dr. de Moreira.

Andrew D. White will publish his "Diplomatic Reminiscences" in the Century Magazine. The instalment in the May issue covers his recollections of Bismarck, the Emperors William I. and Frederick III., Browning, Beaconsfield and many other famous European statesmen and authors.

The first instalment of George Barr McCutcheon's new story, "The Sherrods," is printed in The Bookman for May. It is stated on good authority that Mr. McCutcheon received $15,000 advance royalty for this story, and that his returns for serial and syndicate rights will be no less than $6000.

The Review of Catholic Pedagogy is the title of a new periodical just announced in Chicago. It aims to be "catholic" in the broadest sense, and will be edited by Professor Thomas E. Judge, formerly of Maynooth College, near Dublin. The staff includes the Rev. Dr. William Turner, professor of the History of Philosophy in St. Paul Seminary; the Rev. Peter C. Yorke, trustee of the State University of California; and Margaret F. Sullivan.

The Ledger Monthly, which recently became involved in financial troubles, was sold April 25 to the Every Month Publishing Company for $6000 cash, exclusive of outstanding accounts. The latter will swell the amount going to the creditors to between $7000 and $8000, so that the creditors will get about 25 cents on the dollar. The new owners of the property, as one of the conditions of the purchase, agreed to continue the two college scholarships given by the old company to two young men as rewards for securing large numbers of subscriptions to the Ledger Monthly.

BUSINESS NOTES.

Pearl St., Albany, N. Y., First editions, Americana, drama, Washington, magazines, etc. (No. 30, 515 titles.)

A BOOKISH NIGHTMARE.—Did you "Mark Twain" with an "Akenside"? "Mabie" if you "Tickell" his "Bunyan" and feed him on "Lamb's Tails" and "Partridge" all "Winter" he may not look so "Haggard." Perhaps he would prefer some frothy "Porter" from the cellar of "Stern Chatterton" to bring back the cheerful "Smiles" on his "Hardy" old visage, while his friend "Robert Burns," the shad "Roe" of the "King" under the flowery "Hawthorne." This should prove a "Swift" cure, and put a stopper on his "Howells." C. A. BURKHART.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

THE title of the new novel by Nancy Huston Banks is "Round Anvil Rock," not "Around Anvil Rock," as has been announced by mistake. Like "Oldfield," its scene is laid in Kentucky, a century or more ago.

J. S. OGILVIE PUBLISHING COMPANY have just issued a new Russian story, entitled "One for Many, Confessions of a Young Girl," by "Vera," translated from the original Russian by Henry Britoff.

D. C. HEATH & Co. have in press Nuñez de Arce's "El haz da Leña," a drama in verse, edited especially with reference to its use as an introduction to a study of the Spanish drama by Rudolph Schwill, instructor in Spanish at Yale University.

A. S. BARNES & Co. have just published "Life's Common Way," by Annie Eliot Trumbull, author of "Mistress Content Cradock," etc., a story of the modern woman as she is developed in America, or, more especially, New England society.

D. APPLETON & Co. will bring out in the autumn the sixth volume of McMaster's "History of the American People," which will include an important monograph on President Jackson, fortified with many letters and hitherto unpublished material.

JAMES POTT & Co. announce several new volumes in their Bookman Biographies. Charles Dickens and Leo Tolstoi will be published in a few weeks, to be followed later in the year with volumes on Robert Browning, Alfred Tennyson, Jane Austen and William Makepeace Thackeray.

LONGMANS, GREEN & Co. will publish at once, "Social Origins," by Andrew Lang, which is written to supplement and explain a treatise, which it includes, on "Primal Law," by the late J. J. Atkinson, Mr. Lang's cousin, who studied in New Caledonia the question of primitive marriage.

THOMAS WHITTAKER has brought out the last volume of sermons prepared for the press by the late Dean Farrar. The title is "True Religion," and the treatment is characteristic of Farrar's attitude in churchmanship and theology. An excellent portrait of the author has been added to the book.

THE J. B. MILLET COMPANY, Boston, have just brought out the seventh and eighth volumes of Captain Brinkley's work on "Japan: its history, art and literature." The remaining four volumes will be devoted to "China: its history, art and literature." The work is richly illustrated, many of the plates being in colors.

"THROUGH HIDDEN SHENSI," by Francis H. Nichols, has been accepted in China as a standard of "unprejudiced observation." The North China Herald recently remarked that "it was one of the best existing stories of travel in China." The "great charm" of the book, continues the paper, "is his sympathy with the people."

SMITH, ELDER & Co., London, will publish shortly, under the title of "German Ambitions

as they Affect Great Britain and the United States," the series of articles on European politics contributed to the London Spectator over the signature, "Vigilans sed aequus." The volume will have an introduction by J. St. Loë Strachey, the editor of The Spectator.

A COPY of Professor Salvatori's Italian translation of "Ben-Hur" has been presented to the Pope, who is said to have conveyed to the translator, through Cardinal Rampolla his "Apostolic blessing." General Wallace's masterpiece, according to his publishers, has been translated into more foreign languages than any other book except the Bible, and is read by all sects of religions.

THE HOME PUBLISHING COMPANY, New York, have just ready a new novel by Archibald Clavering Gunter, entitled "The Conscience of a King," in which are described the curious adventures of Mademoiselle Eulalie de Bricourt, who was so mysteriously connected with the Turkish Ambassador in Paris. The volume is handsomely illustrated by Archie Gunn, and is brought out in cloth and paper bindings.

FRANK MORRIS, the Chicago bookseller, has come into possession of a copy of the Bishop's Bible which he believes once belonged to Queen Elizabeth. The book has the signature of Elizabeth that is generally accepted as genuine among the numerous signatures of the famous queen, and the brass clasps holding the heavy brass bound boards together are decorated on one side by crowns in triplicate, stamped deeply into the worn metal.

R. S. GUERNSEY, 56 Pine Street, New York, has brought out a "History of the Negotiations for the Treaty of Peace at Ghent," now first collected and published, containing the suppressed official discussions at Ghent in 1814, on the North American fisheries, independent territory, the northwest boundary, Canadian boundaries and fisheries, etc., with notes by R. S. Guernsey, of the New York Bar, author of "New York City and Vicinity in the War of 1812-1815," etc.

IT will be news to many that the Rev. Johannes A. Oertel, the painter of the famous picture, "The Rock of Ages," is still alive. He is in his eightieth year, and lives in the village of Vienna, Fairfax Co., Va. The painting is the property of Augustus Storrs, of Brooklyn, N. Y., who bought it for $1000. Two years after the appearance of the first photograph of the picture, 1850-1852, Mr. James, of Providence, who had bought the right of publishing the photographs, realized on his share of the profits $75,000, Mr. Oertel also receiving a handsome income in royalties.

THE OLIVER DITSON COMPANY, Boston, have just added to their Musicians' Library "Fifty Songs by Robert Franz," edited by William Foster Apthorp, with a portrait, a manuscript in facsimile, an elaborate introduction, and 138 pages of music with words; also, "Twenty Original Piano Compositions by Franz Liszt," edited by August Spanuth, containing specially attractive numbers, with a portrait of Liszt, biographic and critical introduction, bibliography, hints to plays and 147 pages of music, folio size. The books are attractively printed by Updike, and may be had in cloth and paper bindings.

JOHN MURRAY, London, has just brought out an important work in two volumes, by Professor Baldwin Brown, entitled "The Arts in Early England." The first volume deals with the life of Saxon England in its relation to the arts, while the second treats of ecclesiastical architecture in England from the conversion of the Saxons to the Norman Conquest. Professor Brown gives an account of the foundation and early history of some of the most characteristic English institutions, such as the English Cathedral, and treats also of those English churches, numbering 150, which show traces of Saxon building.

THE CHICAGO UNIVERSITY PRESS has just brought out a volume entitled, "Greek Papyri from the Cairo Museum, together with Papyri of Roman Egypt from American Collections," by Edgar Johnson Goodspeed. This contribution presents thirty documents and literary fragments hitherto unpublished. All the periods of Greek papyri—Ptolemaic, Roman, and Byzantine—are represented, the pieces being taken from the collections of the Cairo Museum, Westminster College, and the private collection of the editor. The texts are accompanied by introductions and notes, and translations are appended to the longer or more technical ones.

JOHN LANE announces a collection of short stories entitled "Contrasts," by the Hon. Mrs. Henniker, author of "In Scarlet and Gray." The author is the daughter of Richard Monckton Milnes, later Lord Houghton, whose published work as an essayist and critic is considerable, and her latest book is dedicated "To Peggy," the daughter of Lord Rosebery who married a few months ago the Earl of Crewe. Mr. Lane has just ready a volume of poems by Alice Herbert, entitled "Between the Lights;" also, a new Vale Press volume, "The Parables from the Gospels," prepared by Charles Ricketts, with ten original woodcuts designed and engraved on wood.

J. H. YEWDALE & SONS CO. have just issued something new among books in an encyclopædia of Superstition, Folk-lore and Occult Sciences. This publication, in three volumes, is intended to meet the need of those who desire to find at once the superstitions or folklore of any given locality, people or religion in the past or present time. The work has required an extraordinary amount of research and editorial labor. Most of the facts have been obtained from original sources through eminent contributors, personally interested in the subjects, and thoroughly qualified by personal investigation. It is intended to be a reference work of final authority, covering the entire field, ancient and modern, of superstition, folk-lore and occult sciences.

"AT THE TIME APPOINTED," a new novel by the author of "That Mainwaring Affair," which J. B. Lippincott Company published April 27, has already had a large sale, in addition to the advance orders which twice delayed the publication of the book. The story is laid in the West and has to do with the excitements and mysteries for which its writer is already well known. It is bound in striking covers in color and has a frontispiece by Marchand. The most distinguished piece of fiction in the J. B. Lippincott list for the present year was published last week. It is George Moore's new novel, "The Untilled Field," in which he has embodied a large amount of observation of Irish life. Because of its religious and moral views the book will no doubt create sharp discussion.

LITTLE, BROWN & CO. publish to-day "The Spoils of Empire," by Francis Newton Thorpe, author of "The Constitutional History of the United States," etc. Mr. Thorpe's novel is a romance of Mexico in the time of Montezuma, and the passion of Juan Estoval, a follower of Cortez, for the beautiful Aztec princess, Dorothea, is the theme of the love story which runs through the book. The book contains six illustrations by Frank B. Masters. John H. Whitson's novel, "Barbara," published two weeks ago, has already gone into its second edition. They will publish shortly a volume of interest to dog fanciers and sportsmen, entitled "Kennel Diseases," by Dr. J. Frank Perry, better known as "Ashmont." The work has been out of print for some years, but has been rewritten and will be illustrated.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & CO. will publish shortly a book by a distinguished New York physician who has been induced to write in a practical and common-sense way about "How to Keep Well." He attempts a plain statement of just what he thinks a physician has said to his patient or what he would say if one took the time to consult him. They are making arrangements to bring out at once, in book form, Ralph Henry Barbour's story, "The Land of Joy," which is just ending its serial run in The Ladies' Home Journal. The announce that the complete edition of Frank Norris's works will contain two entirely new books. Besides "The Responsibilities of the Novelist, and Other Literary Essays," which will be published in May, there will be "A Deal in Wheat, and Other Stories of the New and Old West," to appear about the time the complete edition is ready.

DODD, MEAD & CO. have just ready the Duke of the Abruzzi's important contribution to the literature of Arctic exploration, entitled "On the Polar Star in the Arctic Sea," translated by William Le Queux, in two volumes, with 16 photogravures and over 200 photographs taken by the author; "Bridge Up-to-Date," a practical, simple and reliable guide to the game, by Charles Stuart Street; a new issue of "Janice Meredith," with 24 flashlights of the play; also, "The Aaron Burr Conspiracy," by Dr. Walter F. McCaleb, who has had access to entirely original and hitherto unknown sources. They have made arrangements with Mrs. Amelia E. Barr for a new story to be entitled "The Chain of White Agates." It is a story of Boston towns, opening in Lincolnshire, but soon passing into Boston. It is of the time of the Mathers and about the period of the witchcraft delusions.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have in preparation a timely volume by Thomas Addis Emmet, entitled "Ireland Under English Rule," which will give a full statement of England's policy in Ireland, traced from an early period to the so-called Irish Rebellion of 1789. The volume will be brought out before September, the centennial of the execution of Robert Emmet, whose insurrection has been described as "the last reverberation of the rebellion of 1798, or, rather, of the revolutionary fervor that led the way to that rebellion." They have also in preparation "A History of the Civil War in the United States, 1861-'65," by W. Birbeck Wood and Colonel Edwards, with an introduction by Colonel Henderson, which, though written by Englishmen, is said to be an impartial account of the great struggle between the North and the South; also, "The Shadow of the Victory," a romance of Fort Dearborn, the little trading post from which developed the city of Chicago, and "Pickaback Songs," a book of songs for children, both by Myrtle Reed, the author of "Lavender and Old Lace," etc. "Pickaback Songs" will have music by Eva Cruzen Hart, and illustrations by Ike Morgan.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY are just bringing out a volume containing the "Life and Letters of Charlotte Mary Yonge," by Christabel Coleridge. Author and subject were friends for a great many years, and toward the last Miss Yonge told Miss Coleridge that if her life was to be written Miss Coleridge was the one to write it. Just a third of the book is taken up with Miss Yonge's autobiography. So far as character, personality and the individuality of the subject is concerned, the rest of the book adds little to this fragment, which brings the story down to her fifteenth year, when she first began that intercourse with John Keble and his wife and sister which formed the great conscious influence of her life. Nine portraits accompany the text. They will publish shortly "A Fight for the City," by Alfred Hodder, who, in simple and straightforward language tells the story of the fight with the forces of evil that held New York City in thrall before the election of 1901. The second volume in the Macmillan Series of Little Novels will be a new short story by F. Marion Crawford, entitled "Man Overboard," which is said to be very much in the vein of his delightful short story, "The Upper Berth."

ENGLISH REFERENCE CATALOGUE

The Reference Catalogue of Current English Literature, better known as "Whitaker's Reference List," is the English work corresponding to the American "Publishers' Trade List Annual." It contains the lists of 179 of the most important English publishers and is prefixed by an index containing 135,000 references to the books catalogued. It is thus invaluable in libraries and bookstores as the most convenient and complete key to current English books. The present issue is in two volumes, of about 5000 pages, strongly bound in half leather at the price of $5.00 net. The edition is limited, and few copies remain unsold. American orders should be sent to the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, 298 Broadway, New York.

AT THE TIME APPOINTED

By the author of "THAT MAINWARING AFFAIR"

"Hand over that money, young man, and no fuss about it, either!"

With a spring, as sudden and noiseless as a panther's, Whitcomb grappled with the man, knocking the revolver from his hand upon the bed. A quick, desperate, silent struggle followed. Whitcomb suddenly reached for the revolver; as he did so Darrell saw a flash of steel in the dim light, and the next instant his friend sank, limp and motionless, upon the bed.

"Fool!" he heard the man mutter, with an oath.

An involuntary groan escaped from Darrell's lips. Slight as was the sound, the man heard it and turned, facing him; the latter was screened by the curtains, and the man, seeing no one, returned to his work, but that brief glance had revealed enough to Darrell that he knew he could henceforth identify the murderer among a thousand. In the struggle the mask had been partially pushed aside, exposing a portion of the man's face. A scar of peculiar shape showed white against the olive skin, close to the curling black hair.
